

at the market (souk)

in the desert

at the night market (souk)

transporting hay after harvest

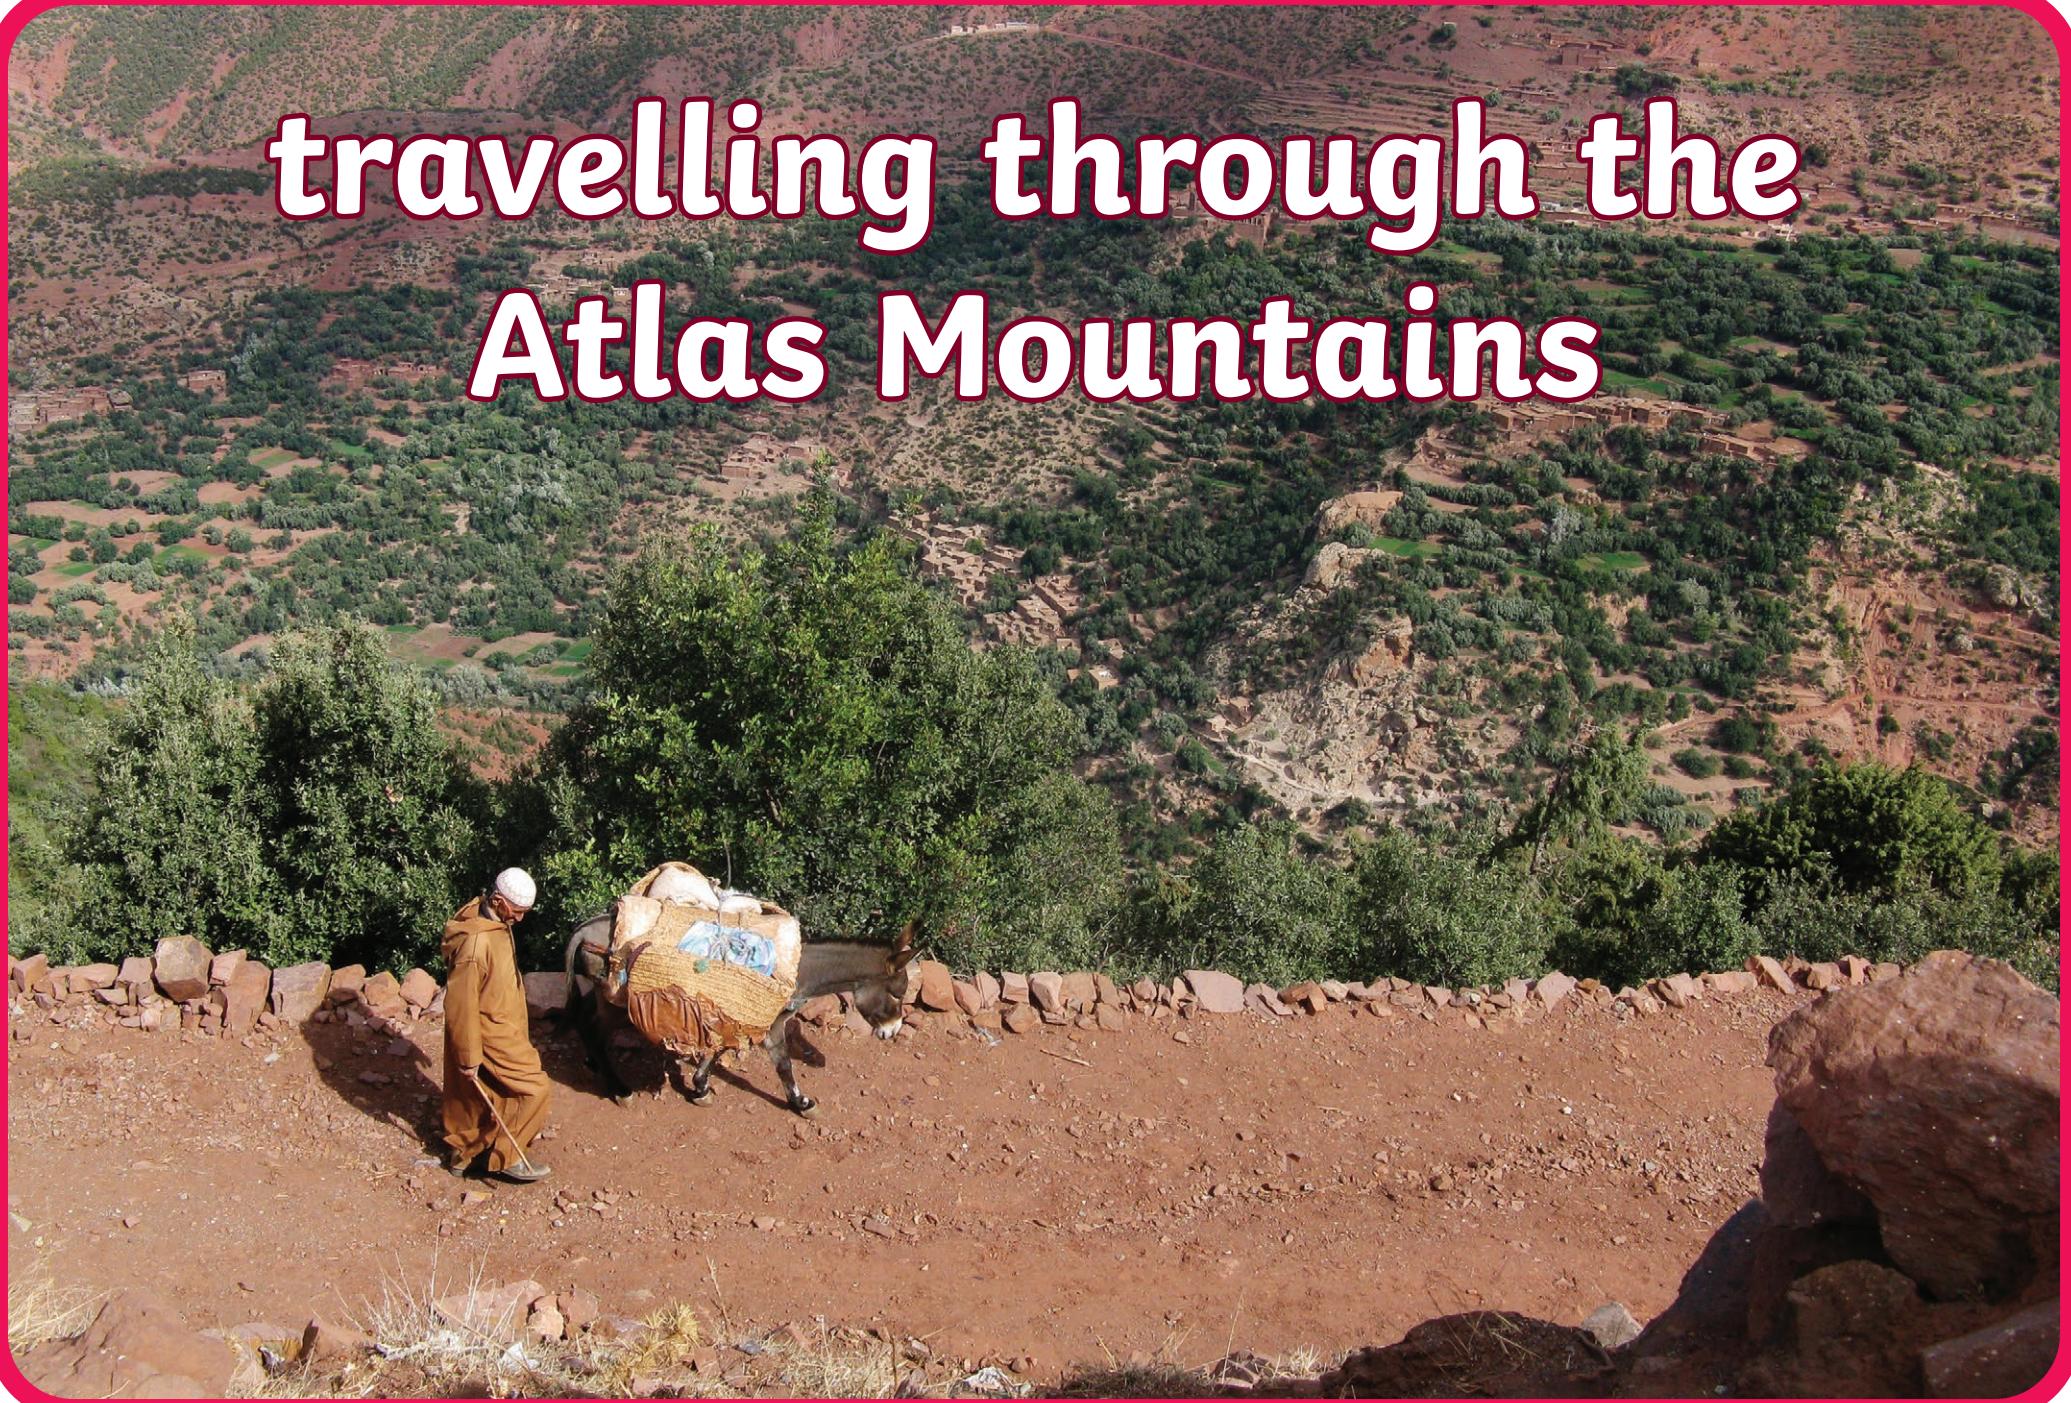

at the mosque

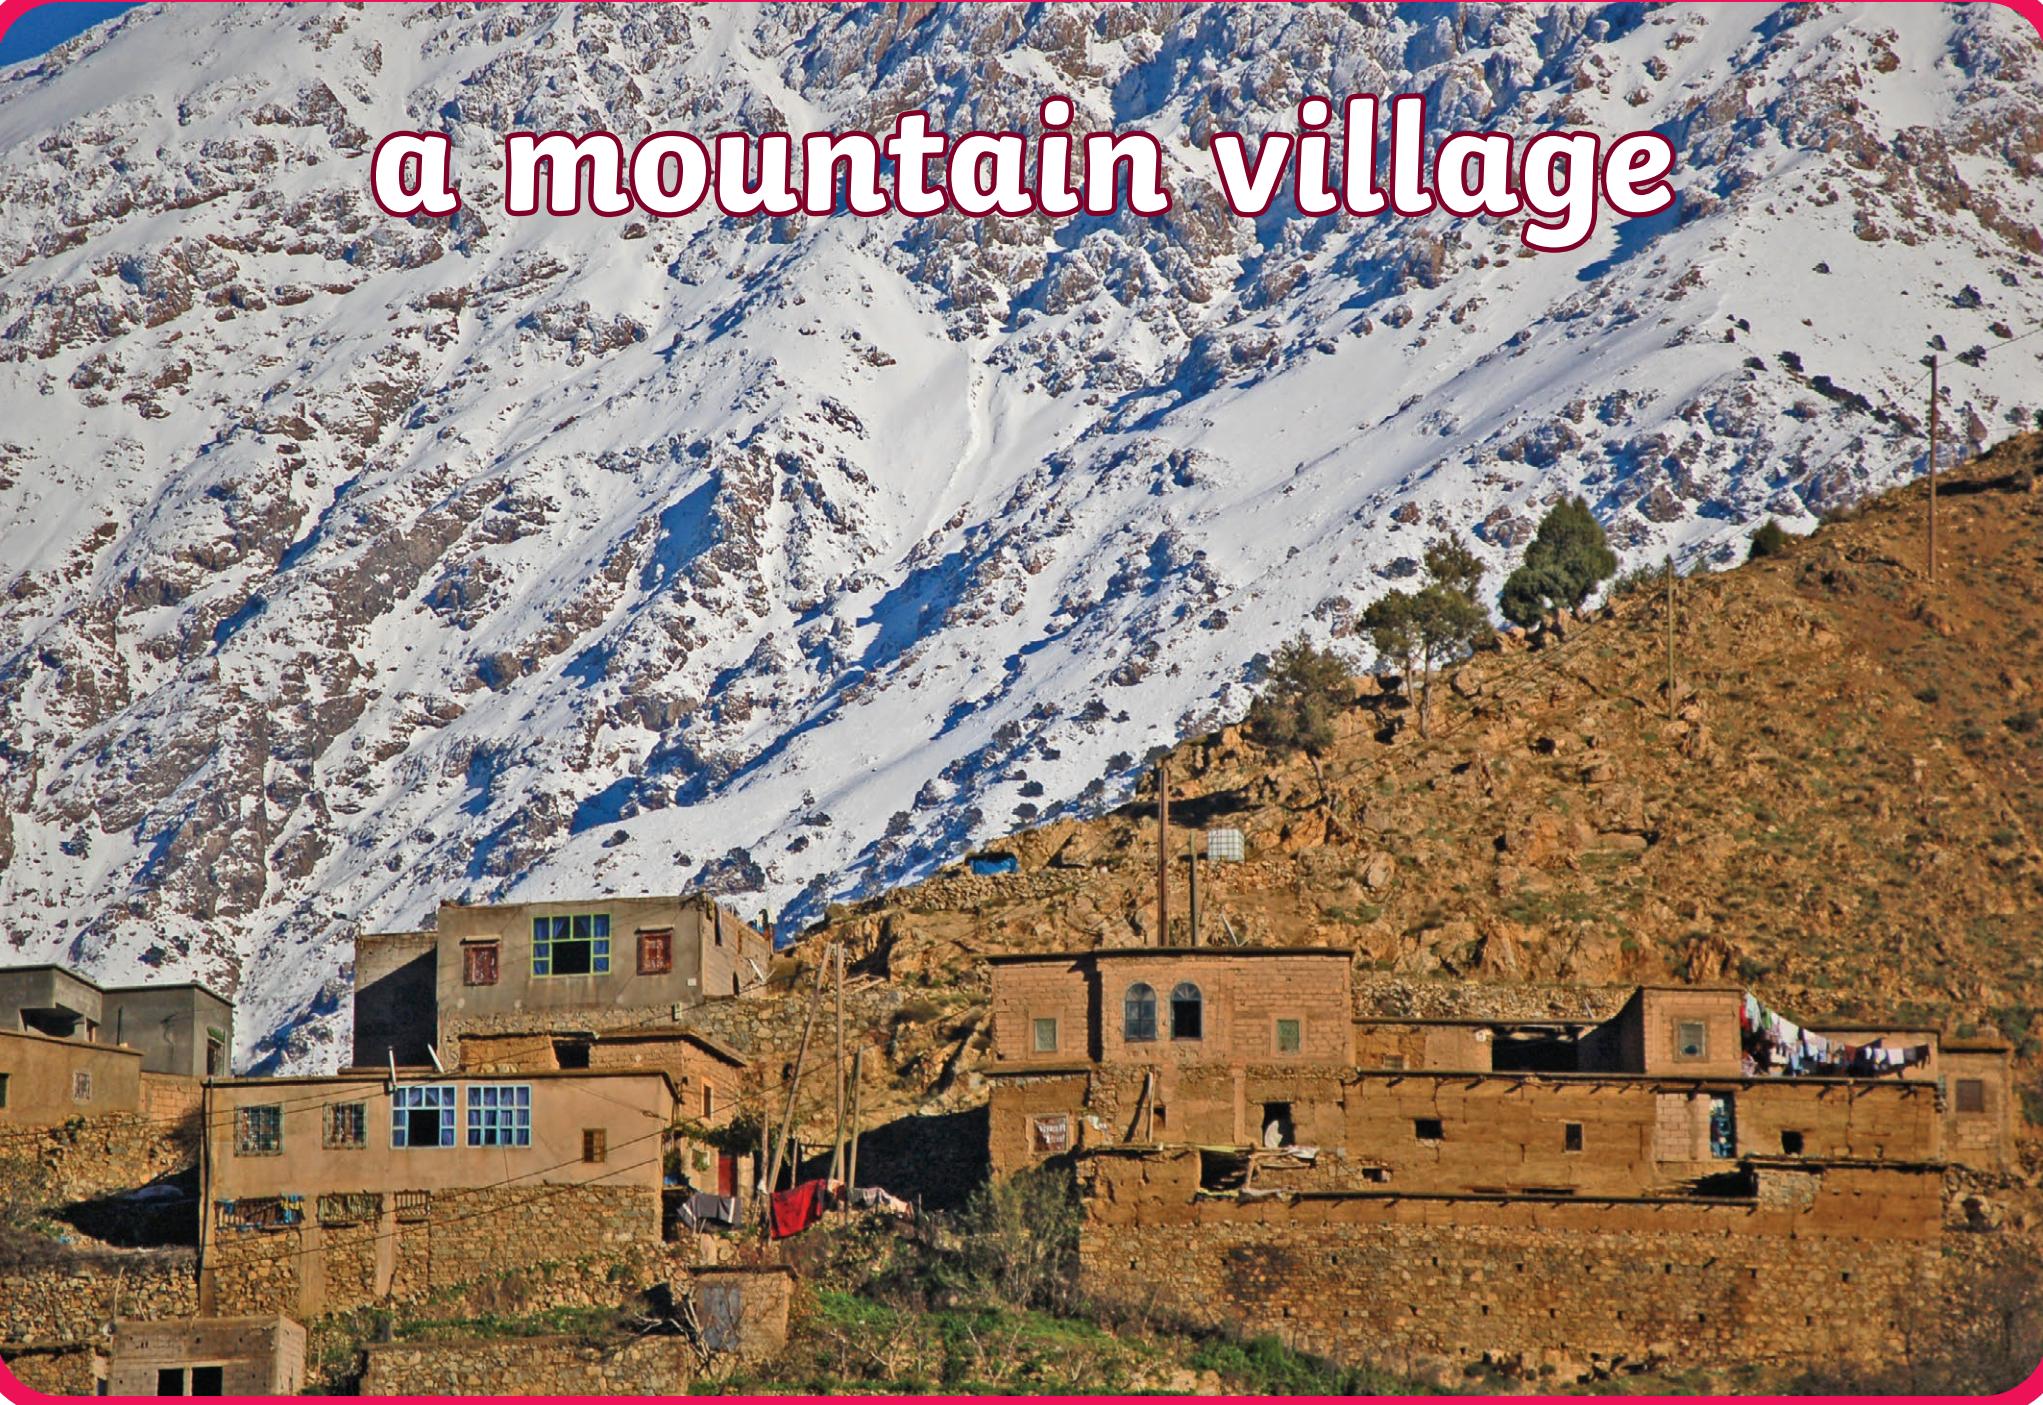

buying tajine pottery

travelling through the Atlas Mountains

A photograph of a mountain village nestled at the base of a large, rugged mountain range. The mountains are covered in patches of white snow, particularly on the upper slopes. In the foreground, several traditional stone houses with tiled roofs are built on a hillside. Laundry hangs from lines strung between the buildings. A utility pole stands near one of the houses. The overall scene is a blend of natural beauty and human habitation.

a mountain village

outside the hammam (bath house)

inside the hammam (bath house)

at the port

at the beach

playing football

goats in the countryside

selling vegetables

cooking in a tagine

